AFFAIRS OF THE DISTRICT

Commissioners Approve the Allotment of the Contingent Fund.

Permission Given to the Potomac Electric Power Company to Erect Poles in Woodley Street—Award and Assessment of the Jury in the New Hampshire Avenue Case.

Walter C. Allen, the Electrical Engineer, has forwarded to Mr. Macfarland, President of the Board of District Commissioners, his recommendation relative to the allotting of the contingent fund for the fiscal year of 1901 and 1902 among the several departments. He advises the Commissioners that the needs of his department require that the amount coming to it shall be increased from $100 to $200. During the present fiscal year, he adds that the $100 allotted to the department has been insufficient, and that he has been compelled to call upon the miscellaneous contingent fund for printing specifications and street-lighting schedules to the amount of about $50, which are proper charges against the contingent fund of this department. Numerous other items Mr. Allen says he has been compelled to purchase from the general expenses of the telegraph and telephone service, although they were properly chargeable to the contingent fund.

Mr. Macfarland has approved the recommendation of the Electrical Engineer, and it is understood that his associates will agree with him in the matter. In reporting upon the action of the Potomac Electric Power Company to construct an overhead line from Wisconsin Avenue along Woodley Street to a point between Richmond Street and Idaho Avenue northwest, the Electrical Engineer has this to say:

"I recommend that permission be granted to the company to erect eight poles and to string two wires thereon on Woodley Street, as requested by them. Authority for this is found in the joint resolution approved July 8, 1898, authorizing the issuance of permits for the extension of existing overhead electric wires outside of the fire limits and west of Rock Creek." It is understood that the Commissioners have also approved this recommendation. The Commissioners have been informed by their Attorney that the Marshal has received the award and assessment of the condemnation jury "in regard to the extension of New Hampshire Avenue." The report of the Attorney goes on to say:

"The amount awarded for damages is $100,731.96. I have handed to the Auditor the Marshal's payrolls for the services of the jurors in the case, and have marked the same approved."

"The Court of Appeals in the case of Davidson et al. (extension of S. 2nd St. second and Decatur Streets) did not hold the entire act of Congress concerning street extensions unconstitutional, but only a portion which related to the assessment of benefits, so that the jurors in New Hampshire Avenue case are entitled to the compensation provided for in the act of Congress for the extension of that avenue."

"As I have heretofore advised you, the case of Davidson et al. has been appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States and advanced for hearing on October 15, 1900. Pending the disposition of that appeal further proceedings in this case will be suspended."

The opinion of the Attorney has been approved by the Commissioners. Pursuant to their order issued a few days ago, the Commissioners were informed this morning by Gustave Bender that the old frame schoolhouse in Congress Heights will be razed to the ground. The Association by June 15. Mr. Bender also asks that two weeks may be allowed in which to remove the gymnasium apparatus used by the association. The Commissioners have decided to grant the request.

COMPLAINTS ABOUT POULTRY.

Commission Merchants Say They Reach Market in Poor Condition. There has been a great deal of complaint of late from the commission merchants and others about the miserable condition in which poultry is received from the farmers and country merchants in the neighborhood of Washington.

"It is just as easy," said one of these merchants to a Times reporter today, "for the fowls to be put up in good shape, and if the shippers would only realize it they would get a much better price for their product. It is of prime importance that the poultry products be placed on the market in a condition that will make them appear as inviting as possible. Proper feeding for two or three weeks will improve their color very materially. In Washington as well as in the other markets of the United States fat fowls with a yellow skin bring the highest prices. This condition may be secured most cheaply by feeding a grain ration, composed largely of corn, for two or three weeks before the fowls are slaughtered. Of the more common grain foods corn is the most excellent. A uniformity in quality of the fowls soon builds up a reputation for the shipper, and it will be found that there is always a demand for his products."

"In all cases it is best to feed the food from twelve to twenty-four hours before killing, but the fowls should have plenty of water during this time, that they may be able to digest and assimilate food properly consumed. All fowls should be kept by cutting through the roof of the mouth and allowing them to feed to death. In all operations of dressing avoid cutting or bruising the skin or breaking bones. Care is required in the case of the heavy fowls in picking and handling to prevent bruising the skin. In packing fowls use neat boxes or barrels holding about 200 pounds meet these requirements best; boxes are better for turkeys and geese, and barrels for chickens. Barrels may be used, however, for dry shipment as well as for hot water shipment when the fowls are to be packed in ice."

"In shipping live poultry the coop should be high enough to allow the fowls to stand upright without bending their legs. When large coops are used there should be partitions so that if the coops are tipped all of the fowls are not thrown to one side. They should have plenty of room in the coop. It possible put only one kind in a coop or in one division of a coop."

GOMPERS SCORES THOMPSON.
Says the Enemy of Organized Labor Is Brutal.

Labor leaders have been discussing the testimony of N. F. Thompson, Secretary of the Southern Industrial Convention, given Tuesday before the Industrial Commission, which is holding daily sessions in the Bliss Building. Mr. Thompson is a determined opponent of organized labor, and his remarks before the commission were in the nature of an attack on such combinations.

Referring to the published account of the session appearing in the columns of the Times this morning, Samuel Gompers, President of the American Federation of Labor, said:

"I have been too busy to read the article at length, and am too busy to comment upon it at length. I am fairly well acquainted, however, with the views held by Mr. Thompson, and will say this: I believe he is crazed. His brutality knows no bounds. Labor to him means nothing more than justifiable slavery. His idea is that the almighty dollar has the only right that can be recognized. His ideas are those views which obtained in the days when negro slavery existed."

"I had expected to be present at the examination of Mr. Thompson, but the notification I had requested was omitted, and I was not aware that he would be questioned so soon."
